

ABSTRACT

The invention concerns methods for maturation of dendritic cells by contacting them with RU 41740 or a compound analogous to RU 41740. The maturation of dendritic cells contacted with RU 41740, or analogues thereof, can be characterized by their functional properties and their phenotypic properties.